Farmingville, NY - On June 17, Councilman Kevin LaValle joined Suffolk County Legislators Tom Muratore and Leslie Kennedy at the Middle Country Public Library and Miller Business Resource Center's Second Annual Women's Resource Fair at the library's Centereach location. Nearly 40 vendors participated, offering goods and services geared specifically toward women, including spa services, health and wellness, legal assistance, financial and career planning.

"This is a wonderful program that the Middle Country Library and the Miller Business Resource Center hold each year," said Councilman LaValle. "It's a great opportunity for women entrepreneurs on Long Island to market their services to those who need them."
